Présentation

Forging Interdisciplinary Solutions for Planetary Health

Since 2006, the Learning Planet Institute (LPI) has been at the forefront of interdisciplinary education, culturing leaders capable of addressing humanity's most pressing issues through innovative collaboration. The Master of AIRE, hosted by LPI and accredited by Université Paris Cité, is designed for students aiming to address global challenges related to sustainability and planetary health through creative and interdisciplinary approaches.

Master of AIRE students will experience :

- A personalised learning path, co-designed throughout the year, based on self-evaluation and personal development, supported by project, research, and skills mentoring.
- A dynamic learning ecosystem, enriched by international events, creativity and collective intelligence, fostering meaningful exchanges and relationships.
- A flexible training approach, beginning with introductory courses, followed by intensive courses, masterclasses, and hands-on training through internships, apprenticeships, etc. These modalities are tailored to meet each individual's needs.

The Master of AIRE is a national 2-year diploma of Université Paris Cité. The degree is part of the EURIP Graduate School which offers opportunities to continue your postgraduate studies with a 3-year PhD at FIRE Doctoral School for selected applicants.

- Program Location: Learning Planet Institute 8 Bis Rue Charles V 75004 Paris, France LPI
- Tuition Fees: National Tuition fees (250€ + 103€ of CVEC) annually
- Monthly Recommended Budget At least €1250 (Twelve Hundred and Fifty Euros)
